1. All above named sessions are approved for continuing education credits (CARC and CRPA). Conference organizers are asked to inform attendees that these sessions are NYCB approved as continuing education for both foundational certifications; never one without the other.
2. Only the above named sessions are approved. Any other sessions in the conference program are not approved.
3. "Professional Development" is a designation within continuing education identifying approved content/opportunities suitable for professional development, not role competence.
4. Conference admin is responsible for documenting attendance, issuing Attendance Confirmation certs to include the formal NYCB Training Approval badge issued to the conference organizers.
5. Attendees may claim a maximum of 6 hours credit from attendance at approved conference sessions when submitting certification renewal applications. This benefit is standard for all conferences which offer NYCB continuing education credits.
